Dear Committee Secretariat

Hate Speech and The Marriage Survey (Additional Safeguards) Act 2017 (Cth)

The LGBTI Legal Service (Service) thanks the Committee Members for considering our submission to the Senate Standing Committees on Finance and Public Administration inquiry into arrangements for the postal survey and the opportunity to provide feedback.

We have focused our submission on Terms of Reference:

- (e) 'Protections against offensive, misleading or intimidating material or behaviour, especially towards affected communities'; and
- (h) 'All aspects of the conduct of the collection and related matters'.

The Service is a non-profit community-based legal service operating in Queensland, and provides legal advice, information and education regarding LGBTI legal issues. The Service is also active in law reform and awareness activities pertinent to the LGBTI community. During the marriage law survey period, the Service ran a Like Love project to monitor, collect information on, and assist individuals to take action in respect of vilification against the LGBTI community. The Service was informed of close to 270 incidences of possible vilification, and planned to pursue these matters within the Safeguards Act framework. The Service encountered several barriers in bringing complaints under the Safeguards Act, particularly in relation to standing, exposure to costs and certain administrative difficulties.

The Commonwealth Government enacted the Marriage Survey (Additional Safeguards) Act 2017 (Cth) (Safeguards Act) to provide safeguards to the Australian community in relation to and throughout the period of public debate preceding the Government's same sex marriage survey. The Safeguards Act had among its express objectives: promoting the integrity of survey responses, ensuring proper and respectful debate regarding marriage laws; and providing groups and individuals the ability to hold and express views about the laws without vilification. The Safeguards Act creates a series of civil offences, including for vilifying, intimidating or threatening harm to a person for expressing or holding a particular view, or for the person's religion, sex, gender identity, or intersex status.

The Service considers that the policy objectives of the Commonwealth Government were frustrated by flaws in both the design and implementation of the Safeguards Act.

Standing and Attorney-General Approval of "Notifying Entities"

To bring any action under the Safeguards Act, parties were subject to specific procedural and substantive restrictions in addition to the general requirements of the Regulatory Powers (Standard Provisions) Act 2014 (Cth). The Safeguards Act included a "notifying entity" concept, which captured two broad groups: one, prospective communicators of marriage law survey material; and two, prospective applicants for a civil penalty order for a contravention of the Act. Whether a person or group was a notifying entity was to be determined by the Attorney-General, subject to the definition in the Safeguards Act. Notifying entity was defined broadly, but only in relation to prospective communicators. As indicated in legal advice to the Service, it was unclear whether the Service would be a valid notifying entity for the purpose of a civil penalty application.

The Commonwealth Government produced an application form for prospective civil penalty applicants. The threshold question for the form was whether the person completing the form is a notifying entity, but the form did not provide or refer to any supplementary material clarifying the concept. Given the legal uncertainty of the Safeguards Act, such guidance would have been valuable. The Service's prospective applications were delayed by the need to seek legal advice on the meaning of notifying entity. Further, the Service understand from conversations with other community stakeholders that groups and individuals who could not obtain legal advice were delayed or deterred in pursuing matters under the Safeguards Act because of this uncertainty.

As flagged in the legal advice to the service, the broadness of the notifying entity concept (as it relates to communicators) also complicated any assessment of whether material was within the ambit of the Safeguard Act.

Costs Exposure Prohibitive of Action

The Safeguard Act seeks to strengthen existing legal protections for individuals and groups of individuals who are vilified, intimidated or threatened because of their personally held views, or because of their status as a member of the LGBTI community. As the Service understand it, the Act seeks (among other things) to provide persons with a greater degree of agency to take action against this conduct than they would already have (or consider themselves to have). If this is an accurate expression of the Safeguard Act's purpose, the Service consider that a broader range of remedies should have been made available to aggrieved parties. Civil penalty orders under the Safeguard Act require application to the Federal Court, and with this come significant costs. The additional protections legislated by the Commonwealth Government would have had more impact if the Safeguard Act provided, for example, a procedure for persons to notify and seek to resolve grievances without applying to the court.

The Safeguard Act should also have modified the laws relating to cost orders made by the Federal Court on the conclusion of civil penalty proceedings under the Act. The Commonwealth Government clearly foresaw that many would-be applicants under the Act would be individuals and community organisations. The prospect of adverse cost orders was a major deterrent to these groups in considering action under the Safeguard Act. The Service recognise that adverse cost orders are an important mechanism for minimising vexatious claims. However, the requirement to obtain Attorney-General approval was clearly designed to allow vexatious claims to be dispensed with without calling on the Federal Court's resources. With this protection in place, the Government should have taken action to minimise the risks and burden associated with community-initiated litigation. The Government could have done this by:

- Subsidising the litigation costs of approved applicants;
- Making a commitment to prosecute cases on behalf of approved applicants; or
- Legislating to modify the usual rule that 'costs go with the case'.

Administrative Restrictions and Delay

Decisions of the Attorney-General on whether a person or organisation was a notifying entity, and whether a person could apply for a civil penalty, were excluded from judicial review. This may have been motivated by political expediency, specifically the desire to contain the marriage equality debate and its fallout to the prescribed period under the Safeguard Act.

Regardless, precluding judicial review was a remarkable decision given the potential harm wrought by the marriage equality debate on members of the community. The potential for harm is evident in the material collected throughout the Like Love project (sample attached).

I urge the Committee to consider these submissions and ensure that the Australian Government never again undertakes a divisive postal survey as a method of determination on the fundamental human rights of its citizens.

Kind regards

Thomas Clark

	"This palaver about SSM appears to be a backdoor way of bringing not only the concept of "gender fluidity" back INTO our children's classrooms (partly as part of the covert population control program), following the rejection of Safe Schools (S.S)., but perhaps to ultimately get the twisted Safe Schools sexual content BACK into the classroom to resume the sexualisation and grooming of children as future pedophile victims." ...."Gary Dowsett the Deputy Director of the Australian Research Centre in Sex, Health and Society (ARCSHS), helped launch the controversial 'Safe Schools Coalition' through Gay and Lesbian Health Victoria in 2010. What you didn't hear was that in the spring of 1982, he authored a paper in Gay Information openly advocating for paedophilia and paedophile "rights," but more than that, he explicitly stated that the paedophilia "debate" is "crucial to the political processes of the gay movement: paedophiles need our support, and we need to construct the child/adult sex issue on our terms." That is to say that, over 30 years ago, the gay rights movement was already being hijacked and coopted by paedophile sympathizers for their own sick ends. The LGBT community should be nothing less than outraged and irate at this usurpation."...."As we have seen from Canada, the UK, the United States and New Zealand, same-sex marriage was just a stepping stone toward a much larger, a much wider sex/gender revolution with the agenda to completely re-engineer reality as we know it. 	Changing the Marriage Act will only remove more human rights than protect those we think we're helping "....." Parents can expect state interference when it comes to moral values. Parenting and education and not just in schools. The government might have access to your home to supervise you as the parent to judge your suitability and if the government doesn't like what you are teaching your children, they will attempt to remove them from your home. Even if school teachers were to debate this, they might lose their jobs for thinking politically incorrect thoughts."..."So what will this mean for normal everyday people who just want to raise their children in a normal natural environment? Firstly it might be considered discrimination to say that marriage is between man and a woman or that every child should know and be raised by his own biological married parents and you can be prosecuted under new laws with tens of thousands of dollars in legal fees. New hate speech laws will be introduced. The political leftists and social justice warriors will call you racist, a bigot and a homophobe and because your beliefs, values and political opinions are different from theirs, you risk losing your professional license, job or business and even your children."....."Canada's reality is a warning: wherever marriage is redefined, parents have their rights trampled, and their children's upbringing controlled by the state. With the new plebiscite vote coming up and all the discussion surrounding it, we decided to spread some facts surrounding the issue of homosexuality. Facts that most people simply do not know, either because it is not presented to them on TV, or they do not want to know as it's uncomfortable and shatters their flimsy, feel-good worldview.

This poster was stuck up all around Melbourne CBD, including Swanston street outside of RMIT and the headquarters of the Labor party in Melbourne, who are one of the biggest promoters of the homosexual agenda. This really got under the skin of many faggots in Melbourne, who raised a big stink about it online. They proclaimed the facts to be false despite the evidence provided in our twitter post which has many other interesting facts as well, such as the staggering promiscuity, rates of domestic violence, substance abuse and mental illness among homosexual 'couples'. Fortunately, they also have a much higher rate of suicide compared to normal people.

	Western freedom is under imminent threat. The enemy is at the gates, they have gained control of education, universities, media, political parties. It will be a long and draining battle to regain lost ground, but it will be done, as it has been done throughout all previous attacks.
	Our forefathers fought bad ideas and ideologies last century so we could be free today. We have taken this freedom for granted. Please defend Australia against the bad ideological experiment of today, the anti-freedom rainbow ideology imposing intolerant changes on our society such as same-sex "marriage," homosexual promotion, recruitment and indoctrination at schools, and gender confusion.

	Since the redefinition of marriage in the United States, citizens have come to realise that the "equality campaign" was the public face for a much deeper agenda. Not satisfied with redefining family and marriage — cornerstones of society — or enforcing tyrannical social laws, activists from the LGBTI community continue to increase their demands. What are those demands? An all or nothing approach to gender ideology: everyone must accept the full spectrum of the LGBTI movement, and those who do not are punished.....Despite the "live and let live" mantra, which was cleverly trademarked for the equality campaign, there is nothing disinterested or tolerant about the movement. On the contrary, it has become obsessed with forcing people to accept their agenda, pushing gender ideology down the throats of the silent majority, and becoming irate when people fight back. The Left has shown the totalitarian manner in which it exacts support, or at least silence, from everyday Americans. We've seen how lives were destroyed in the wake of the gay marriage debate, how many individuals were shouted down into submission by the side that proclaims itself to be "open-minded" and employed the slogans "No H8" and "Love Wins." For many conservatives, including myself, the lesson has been learned. far from being an LGBTIQ advocacy group, the marriage equality campaign is a Trojan horse for an underlying, radical regime. In a movement that seeks to give totalitarian power to a select few, "equality" is an ironic misnomer.

Think this is this just a reckless extrapolation? Think again: as Mark Latham of the Daily Telegraph points out, one look at the Safe Schools program proves otherwise.

Through neo-Marxist programs like Safe Schools and Respectful Relationships, radicals have infiltrated our education system.

They are trying to convince young people of the possibilities of gender fluidity: that at any time, boys can be girls and girls can be boys.

Prior to the fall of the Berlin Wall, Marxists tried to create political anxiety and rebellion through the economic system. Now they are trying to manipulate the identity and feelings of school students, to convince them nothing is fixed in this world, such as biological science.

The fact of the matter is that the silent majority of Australians don't want gender ideology incorporated into the Marriage Act. However, as Mark noted above, this entire campaign is not really about what we want – it's

And many of the more honest homosexual activists have told us that is exactly what they are doing. ... The militant homosexual lobby has told us in no uncertain terms just how they expect to overturn society, so we really ought to take seriously what they have told us....Many homosexuals speak of being introduced to the homosexual lifestyle by someone older, while they were still in their teens. Comments made by Christine Forster, a senior activist in the same-sex marriage campaign, confirm the gay lobby's targeted pursuit of kids' education, the Coalition for Marriage said today. .... Ms Forster, a mother of four who has served on various school parent committees, said she personally didn't think 'children can be too young to be taught that we aren't all the same'. But since the survey began, and the controversial LGBTIQ sex and gender indoctrination program has come under increased scrutiny for its narrow focus on sexual diversity and gender fluidity, Ms Forster has stopped her Safe Schools advocacy, lest Australian mums and dads see a link between that and her advocacy of same-sex marriage. In an op-ed in The Daily Telegraph on 14 September, Ms Forster was adamant to cover any links between her push for same-sex marriage and radical gender and sex education in schools, instead labelling any link between the two as spurious. "We know that the push for same-sex marriage is also about gender fluidity. 	Are transgender (gender fluid) laws erasing biological men and women from the law? Arguably yes. It means that heterosexuals are only recognised in law by their gender identity appearance and mannerisms, etc. Gays and lesbians are only recognised in law by their appearance and mannerisms, etc. Gender fluid (transgender) anti-discrimination and marriage law erases the biological man and woman in law and culture. They erase the biological reality of being gay, lesbian, bisexual ... and heterosexual.	17-Oct-17

Facebook comment	As Tony Perkins of FRC said in his update yesterday, "While activists like to claim that pedophilia is a completely distinct orientation from homosexuality, evidence shows a disproportionate overlap between the two. About a third of all child sex abuse cases involve men molesting boys-- and in one study, 86% of such men identified themselves as homosexual or bisexual. Try as they might, gays and lesbians can't shrug off the link. This is a homosexual problem."  Think about that for a moment. Homosexuals comprise less than three percent of the population, yet are responsible for one-third of all child sex abuse cases. There is an overwhelming correlation between homosexual preference and pedophilia. This is further evidence that homosexuality is in fact sexual deviancy. For this reason alone, no homosexual should be elevated to the United States Supreme Court.	14-Oct-17

	Lgbtiq definition of gender identity doesnt exist in the real world. the real world believes and accept only on etruth ie: Girl = vagina boy = penis. Theres nothing in between nor either side apart from rare disorders. No amount of fabled or synthetic engineered outcomes can ever change that. U may want to beleive it can, but its impossible. No person can be synthetically altered in that way. Gender is made of chromosomes which determine the above, ie. boy/girl. Gender is not fluid and can never be transcribed. A man becoming a woman = feminine male. A woman becoming a man = masculine female. BUT none of the above equate to a complete conversion, despite how many bits u chop and change, how many texts are written on the subject, or how many people suppport your claim. There is no further room for synthetic creations based on contrary of logic and realism to deliver an artificioal prodcut that fits in a newfound revised category, dressed up made to look as a pre existing and always belonging. Gender is not determined by emotion, feelings, psychology and all the other fluffy stuff the lgbtiq says. The fact is not accepting your assigned body, gender, sexuality as awarded by birth is a disorder and most certainly a mental illness none of the the lgbtiq community want to own. Their claims are a synthetic fabrication of unreasonable, illogical explanations created by supporting new age fibsters to give the illusion of a natural normality in what really is a disastrous abnormality or mental illness of the mind. It's cheaper to have everyone believe being lgbti1 is normal than to have the state acknowledge and fund research/treatment for this curse. The word 'Gender' originates from the word 'Genitalia'... only a confused fool would not see the link. Im sorry u had to hear it from me and not your folks... u know, Mum & Dad!

Hilton explained that her job is to promote equality and reduce discrimination within the state, that many other countries have marriage equality, and that the push for marriage equality was supported by the majority of Australia. Things then turned extremely ugly, when Don asked to say one more thing.

Pamphlet in mail	As mums we've come to learn the important of voting No to changing the marriage law. A Yes vote will mean radical LGBTIQ sex and gender education programs will become compulsory in our kids' classrooms. It's how the law works. It's already happened in countries like Canada and will happen here in Australia. Every vote counts, so don't wait. Send in your No vote right away, while there's still time to push back. We will not get another chance.If you think parents deserve a right to have a say about what their kids are taught in schools then you must vote and you must vote No. Together, we can stop this radical gay lobbyist agenda.	20-Oct-17

Website (general)	Critics of the homosexual lifestyle have long claimed that once it became acceptable to identify homosexuality as simply an "alternative lifestyle" or sexual orientation, logically nothing would be off limits according to The Northern Colorado Gazette. "Gay" advocates have taken offense at such a position insisting this would never happen. However, psychiatrists are now beginning to advocate redefining pedophilia in the same way homosexuality was redefined several years ago. When asked if he should be comparing pedophiles to homosexuals, Van Gijseghem replied, "If, for instance, you were living in a society where heterosexuality is proscribed or prohibited and you were told that you had to get therapy to change your sexual orientation, you would probably say that that is slightly crazy. In other words, you would not accept that at all. I use this analogy to say that, yes indeed, pedophiles do not change their sexual orientation."	10-Oct-17
